ii.	Gillnets	X	As a mitigation measure for coastal gillnets, we have tested the fishing time of the nets, comparing the capture of turtles and target species during daytime and nighttime (São Paulo state). The results gained were very good and suggesting that fishing with coastal gillnets during nighttime reduce the sea turtles incidental capture and increase the target species capture.
iii.	Trawling (e.g., 1. TEDs: specify legally approved TEDs, their dimensions, material, and target species for that fishery, 2. time-area closures: specify geographical area, time of closure and target species for that fishery, 3. tow times and/or 4. other measures)	X	Although the use of TED been mandatory in Brazil (INSTRUÇÃO NORMATIVA MMA Nº 31, DE 13 DE DEZEMBRO DE 2004), the fishermen do not use it. The time-area closure for shrimp fishing that occurs on the coast of Sergipe and northern of Bahia, takes place in two periods: April 1 to May 15 and from 1 December to 15 January. The second period (December – January) overlap with the main nesting season of olive ridleys, collaborating to reduce the incidental capture of adult nesting females. The Federal University of Rio Grande -FURG in partnership with Centro Nacional de Pesquisa e Conservação da Biodiversidade Marinha do Sudeste e Sul do Brasil (CEPSUL/ICMBio) are developing and testing some TED's design according to the characteristics of each shrimp trawl fleet in Santa Catarina State with the voluntary participation of fishermen. To support this initiative there is a partnership with NOAA Fisheries – Southeast Fisheries Science Center, Harvesting Systems Unit – Mississippi Laboratories
iv.	Other fishing gear (indicate which one(s))	X v.
